Review of Constitutional Studies: Issue 30.1

The Centre is pleased to announce the publication of a new open issue of the Review of Constitutional Studies. Issue 30.1 contains articles by Claire Charters, Félix Mathieu & Dave Guénette, Keith Cherry, Sarah Burningham, Stéphanie Chouinard & Emmanuelle Richez, and Adriano Zambon. The full issue can be accessed via Heinonline (link below) and will be available open access one year after publication.

Full Issue: https://access.heinonline.com/HOL/P?h=hein.journals/revicos30&i=1

VOLUME 30 • NUMBER 1 • 2026

review

Table of Contents

1 A Critical Assessment of the Crown's Claim to Sovereignty over Aotearoa/New Zealand under Tikanga Māori, British and International Law and its Consequences for Constitutional Transformation Today
Claire Charters

37 Démocraties multinationales et régimes de reconnaissance : une comparaison systématique de dix cas
Dave Guénette & Félix Mathieu

67 Constitutional Pluralism and Shared Rule: Rethinking the Relationship between Indigenous Self-Government and the Charter
Keith Cherry

99 "The Saskatchewan Influence": Saskatchewan's Role in Canada's Ongoing Constitutional Evolution
Sarah Burningham

123 Les régimes linguistiques canadiens en matière d'affichage commercial : limites et opportunités constitutionnelles
Stéphanie Chouinard & Emmanuelle Richez

159 Hart's View of Conceptual Analysis and the Paradigm Case of Law
Adriano Zambon