New Podcast Miniseries: Yes, No, I Don't Know

We're delighted to announce the publication of a new podcast miniseries, produced by the Centre's 2026 summer students and published as episodes 7, 8, and 9 of the Centre's main podcast (The 7/50 Podcast). The new miniseries is called "Yes, No, I Don't Know," and provides analysis of some of the key questions on the ballot in Alberta's upcoming referendum on October 19, 2026. It was produced by Alexis Vander Linden, Claire Adam, and Kiera Fischer, all of whom are currently law students at the University of Alberta. You can listen to the first two episodes below, with a third to follow on Friday.